1. What is c language ?

A. 1.General purpose programming language

   2.procedural programming language

   3.fast speed

   4.low level memory access

   5.clean syntax

2.what are the applications of c language?

A. 1.c is used to develop operating systems

   2.c is used in compilers and interpreters

   3. C is used to data base systems

3.what is variable?

A. Variable is a characteristic ,number,or quantity that can change and be measured ,used to represent something with an unknown or changing value

4. What are different types of data types in c language?

A .1. primary data type

   2.derived data type

   3. user_defined data type

5. What is format specifer?

A. A format specifer is a placeholder in a string used by functions like Printf and scanf to specify the data type and format of data being read or displayed